Subj: DCCC thinks TX-10 could be competitive

From: Ted Ankrum for Congress 2010

To: Media Outlets, open use

Please see the following exchange of e-mails between Ted Ankrum and the DCCC coordinator for Texas. As you can see, the DCCC considers that TX-10 could be competitive.

You're welcome. We send them out from time to time in any districts that we think could be competitive. So, not singled out but somewhat targeted. How's the campaign going? Will you have poll numbers at some point?

Thanks for the DCCC press release McCaul votes against the troops. Is this a generic thing for all Repubs, or has TX 10 been singled out in some way?
